

NBA and WNBA alums return to Toronto for the sixth annual UHN's West Park Tournament of Stars

Toronto, ON (March 12, 2025) – The sixth annual West Park Foundation Tournament of Stars returns this month to support UHN's West Park Healthcare Centre and its life-changing rehabilitation services. NBA and WNBA alumni players and hoop-loving West Park supporters will come together on Saturday, March 22 at the Goldring Centre for High Performance Sport at U of T for an exciting celebrity basketball tournament.

Teams will hit the courts for a one-of-a-kind experience, competing alongside former NBA and WNBA stars including seven-time NBA All-Star Joe Johnson, five-time WNBA All-Star and two-time WNBA scoring champion Angel McCoughtry, two-time NBA All-Star Carlos Boozer and NBA All-Star Jamaal Magloire, to raise critical funds for UHN's West Park Healthcare Centre and its work helping people get their lives back after serious injury and illness, including stroke, amputation, lung disease, and severe trauma.

"For more than 120 years West Park has been helping people regain their independence after a health crisis," says Doug Earle, CEO of West Park Foundation. "By supporting the Tournament of Stars, you're helping patients as they work hard to recover and return to the lives they love. We are extremely grateful to the participants, sponsors and donors for their generous support of the tournament."

Tickets to attend and watch the tournament are available for $25. It's a family-friendly, fun-filled day of basketball that also features a 3-point competition open to all attendees as well as a kids' skills clinic.
